The postsecondary PREPARATION CYCLE

GRADE 12

After attending presentations and information sessions, students will have gathered materials from Laurentian that list the admission requirements for their program(s) of interest. You may want to offer to review your student's course registration for all 4U/M courses or equivalents, ensuring they will be taking the prerequisite courses required for their program(s) of choice.

Please note: Once students have applied to Laurentian, they should be monitoring their my.laurentian.ca portal account regularly.

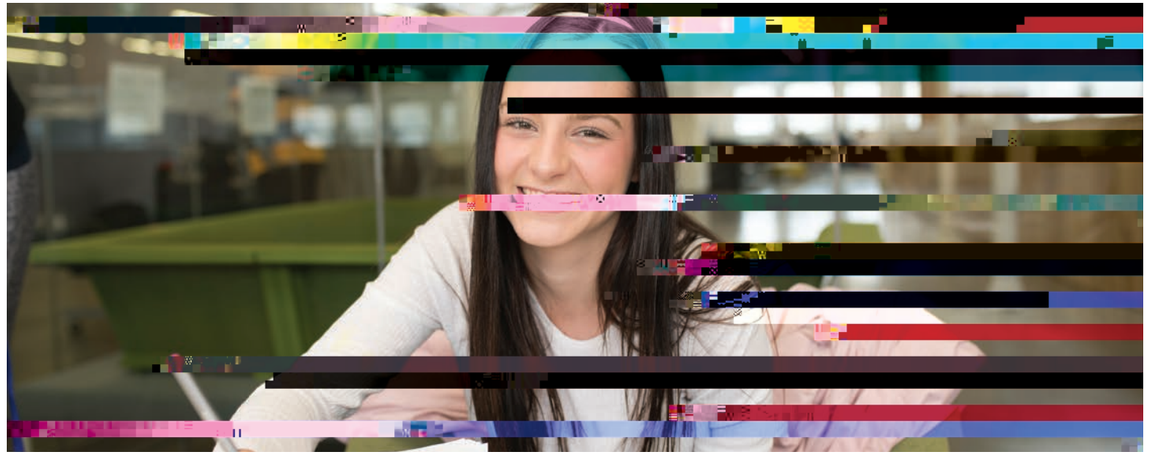
What is the my.laurentian.ca Portal?
The my.laurentian.ca portal is an online resource for those applicants who have applied for admission. It allows applicants to interact with the Of ce of Admissions, to access any supplemental forms required to process their application, to apply for a spot in residence, to receive information on fees, scholarships and bursaries, and more.

DECEMBER 2023

Prior to the second semester in this nal year of high school, students should review their courses to ensure they are on track for graduation and with the prerequisites for their program(s) of interest. Your student may need to retake a course in which they were not successful during their previous studies or add a course to apply for a new program of choice. Speaking with their guidance of ce will help them determine which classes can be taken in the second semester.

Please note: Students may receive early offers of admission prior to the new year (except Architecture).

What is an early conditional offer?
Students may receive an early conditional offer of admission in the fall, based on their grade 11 average. The nal decision will depend upon their best six grade 12 U or M courses, successful completion of the required courses and the obtention of the Ontario Secondary School Diploma (OSSD).



SPRING 2024

By early spring, eligible applicants will have received conditional offers. Be sure to encourage your student to continue working hard in their studies as offers can be rescinded if the average entry requirement for their program of choice is not maintained.

END OF THE SECONDARY SCHOOL YEAR

Students who have applied to an open enrollment program at Laurentian and have received a conditional offer can take summer high school courses that count toward their admission average.

How to help your student

SELECT A PROGRAM

Selecting a postsecondary program is one of the most important decisions your student will make on their journey towards a great career. Though the decision is personal and unique to each student's career goals, we've created a conversation tool to assist you in guiding your student through the decision-making process.
